A Spud Digger's Heart

by Reg

I've dug the spuds round Kooweerup before the swamp was drained
When we were ankle deep in mud near every time it rained.
I've dug down West around Koroit, at ninepence to the bag
Me boots were shot, me pants had holes, me shirt had turned to rag.

I've had me share of freezing nights beside me spud hut's fire
Me socks pegged up beside the hearth, but never getting drier.
The black wind rattling window panes and howling round the door
While little bush rats stared at me from holes right through the floor.

I've known me lantern's lonely light from night fall through to morning
When I was crook with plurisy, that hit me without warning.
Three days and nights I spent that time, near frozen in me bed
'til old George Hodge knocked on me door, he'd thought I might be dead!

There's times I haven't had the coin to buy a single beer
But when I'm flush, the boys all say, I grin from ear to ear.
And now I've almost kicked the grog, through Sister Mary's prayer
It's months since I was seeing things that wasn't really there!

With Bill O'Connell's steady work, I've saved near eighteen pound
By digging spuds for other men who own the farms around.
From good red dirt, I've bagged them up, for no more than a shilling
But now I'd like to dig me own, and so I shall, God willing!

The Dwyer's house block's up for sale. Five acres with a shack.
Bill said he'd lend me fifty quid, I'd have to pay him back!
A spud hut isn't much, I know, to start off married life
But it might do, for a year or two, for a digger and his wife.

Sweet lady dear, I fell for you, when you were washing plates
You, with your arms in the kitchen sink. Me, drinking with me mates.
You smiled at me, though we'd not met. You said your name was Betty.
You stopped me in me tracks, you did! By Jeez, you looked so pretty.

I've thought about you ever since, and I'm not known for thinking.
If truth be told, I'd have to say, I'm known more for me drinking!
I'm not a bloke who's good with words or fancy conversation
And I admit, though I can read, I've got no education.

I've dug the soil and chopped the wood, I've never been a shirker!
I've never bludged off other's dough. I've always been a worker.
I'm not much of a catch, I know. I have a reputation,
As Sergeant Burke's best customer, in the cells behind his station.

I'm not a handsome man, I know. Me whiskers get quite coarse.
And Harry says me face looks like the back end of his horse!
Nor can I offer gold or pearls, Only hugs and kisses.
But, You'd have my heart, forever true, if you would be my missus!

ANZAC Day 2012

Cold and windy conditions failed to deter the crowds turning out for the ANZAC Day march and ceremony in Trentham on 25th April.

A two to three hundred strong crowd gathered to watch the veterans march from the Town Square to the Cenotaph led by immaculately turned out troops from the 4th/19th Light Horse Regiment who then formed the Catafalque Party for the ceremony.

The Mayor of the Hepburn Shire Council and local council member, Sebastian Klein, gave a short but heartfelt address about the sacrifices of Australian servicemen and women had made over many decades. Wing Commander Marcelle Mitting, from Headquarters Training Group in Melbourne, then spoke of the bonds that exist between Australia and New Zealand. All readings were done by students from the Trentham District Primary School and were a credit to the school and their teachers. Trentham Cool Harmony Choir were on hand to provide a rendition of the hymn "And Let There be Peace on Earth" during the wreath-laying part of the ceremony and then led the crowd in a stirring version of the National Anthem to bring the ceremony to a conclusion.

The Trentham Lions Club would like to thank all those who contributed to the success of the day.

Trentham Community Library update - on track to commence early July!

What's happened so far?

Council has secured the planning and building permits for the library and made significant progress on other aspects of this exciting new public space, including a visit from a library design expert. Their report provided clear direction on the look and feel, with an aim to create a contemporary and dynamic library service.

Construction of the library is also well underway, with walls demolished and other fixtures removed and painting to commence soon. Council has placed orders for shelving, the circulation desk, carpets and blinds as well as new collection items. Landscaping for the library, including new steps leading to the door is also underway. Much of this progress is a result of the amazing efforts of Trentham community members who have volunteered so much time and labour to the project. Thanks to the Trentham Community Library Group especially to Andy

Robertson, David, Jill and John McCallum.

When it opens in July the library will provide some fantastic features for the community, including new book stock including art, craft and design books (donated by the Trentham Art & Craft Show), access to over 3 million books held in public libraries across Victoria, computer and Wifi access, regular storytime sessions – all at no cost!

Other features sure to be welcomed include photocopying, printing and fax facilities, a meeting area for community groups and importantly, a venue for Words in Winter and Clever Town Challenge!

The cool moist days of autumn have brought the bushfire danger period to an end with no significant threats to Trentham and surrounding districts this summer. Fuel reduction burns have been carried out by DSE on public land and private landholders have been taking the opportunity to clean up those fuel hazards that were too damp to light last year. The brigade has been called to several minor incidents involving domestic burning off in April and May but none required significant action.

However, chilly winter nights bring on the need for people to take special care at home with open fires, particularly with older brick chimneys where mortar may have deteriorated to the point that sparks can escape into the ceiling cavity beneath the roof. Soot accumulation within the chimney, even in enclosed metal flues, can also build up to the point where it becomes a hazard. The electric clothes dryer that is so useful during months of wet weather needs to have its lint filter cleaned frequently, especially when the dryer is set to higher temperatures for long periods of time. And small electric room heaters can be easily forgotten and covered accidentally with a sock or an old book in a child's bedroom during the night, with serious results.

CFA WINTER FUNDRAISER

Keep your diaries open for our "Music Trivia Night" to be held July 21st at the Mechanics, as a fundraiser toward the fire station extension.

JOIN UP IN JULY

The Trentham Fire Brigade is composed entirely of volunteers. If you would like to become involved in an inclusive, vigorous, practical team, either as a fire fighter, or to assist in other ways, please come along to one of our meetings on the first Monday night of each month at 7:30.

FORUM Report: Council Budget Submission

While this year's draft Budget includes some projects for Trentham it does not address the underlying structural and process causes of the on-going inequities suffered by our community. This is the central issue in the FORUM's 8-page submission which also reviews the 'rate equity – a fair go for Trentham' campaign and concludes:

- Council's failure to provide fair and equitable facilities and support to the Trentham community is wrong.
- That Council knows Trentham does not get a fair go and refuses to act is wrong.
- That this budget offers no substantial measures to address these inequalities is wrong.
- Equity delayed is equity denied.

The submission also calls on Council to seriously review its viability, capacity to provide optimal facilities and services and act in the best interests of all residents and ratepayers.

We have also asked Council to bring forward the Trentham Town Plan to take account of rapid growth in our part of the Shire and the influence of the Calder corridor, which was not addressed in the initial Municipal Strategic Statement Review.

To read the full submission go to www.trentham.org.au or consult a hard copy at the Neighbourhood Centre or request an e-mail copy from any of the FORUM members listed below.

Rail Trail Passes Inspection

Members of the Trentham based Daylesford-Macedon Ranges Rail Trail Working Group recently hosted a tour of inspection of the proposed Rail Trail route by representatives from Bicycle Network Victoria. BNV's Jason den Hollander, Team Leader - Facilities Development and Kate Butler, Recreation Trail Development Officer visited sections of the disused railway corridor through the picturesque Wombat State Forest as part of the tour.

Coordinator David Wilson said that the group has been working closely on the proposal with Bicycle Network Victoria for around two years. "The inspection with Jason and Kate will assist their role with us in an upcoming feasibility study to be conducted by Hepburn and Macedon Ranges Shire Councils" David said.

"I'm looking forward to the feasibility study and working with local groups to smooth the way for the Baillieu government to fund the Rail Trail" Jason said.

Bicycle Network Victoria's website includes a number of articles on what has also been named the general/change-the-world/91760/ for more information, with a brochure download available.

"The feasibility study is the first step in developing a way forward for the State government to deliver the Daylesford-Macedon Ranges Rail Trail. We are excited to support those in the region to provide a clear direction for the trail" Kate said.

The working group has also been greatly assisted in its activities by Railtrails Australia, which has coverage on its website at www.railtrails.org.au/news.

"Both organisations have played key roles in the development of rail trails around Victoria and in other States and their expertise will be keenly sought for the feasibility study. The Rail Trail will result in significant recreational and economic benefits for local communities and the region" David Wilson said.

No One Left Behind Project—Community Consultation

This community safety project is funded by the Department of Planning and Community Development to assist the township of Trentham to become more prepared for the event of a town emergency such as bush fire.

Currently the Project is in a consultation phase, seeking information from community members about their views on town safety concerns along with ideas about connecting residents and working together to protect the township.

Mary Hogarth, the Project Worker, has been out meeting with as many community groups as possible to capture their views, concerns and ideas about what could assist residents in the event of a widespread emergency event.

A snapshot community/fire safety survey was conducted recently by the NOLB Project at the Trentham Spudfest, at a shared display table with the Trentham Fire Brigade.

How to be involved:

- Register your group, businesses or organisation for the Project Worker to meet with you at a convenient time eg at a regular group meeting. This will enable your concerns, views or ideas to be represented in the survey.

- Alternatively you can attend a small focus group about town safety to have your views represented.
- Provide your contact details to the Project Worker to gain information such as the survey results and other project news such as fire safety workshops and communication systems.

Contact Mary Hogarth, Project Worker on 0437 707 835, Trentham Neighbourhood Centre 5424 1354 (leave a message) or email: trenthamnc3t@gmail.com

Do you have a printer?

Do you know where to put your old cartridges?

Most of us have computers at home these days, and most of us have printers, to keep hard copy records of the important documents in life. (So much for the paperless office) Once we have used the ink from the cartridge the big question is just what do you do with the cartridge? I know I have been guilty of throwing them away when the saved ones start to take up too much room on the shelf. But did you know they can be refilled? This can be a complicated and messy business; a better solution might be to recycle the remains. Planet Ark offer any business and community organisations a box that can be filled with emptied cartridges and then collected by them to be recycled and made into other things; plastic cutlery, park benches, garden stakes etc.

TNC now has one of these recycling boxes located in the foyer area near the computer room. If you have any old cartridges you have been saving for the right place to put them, come in to the Centre and give them to us.

You may have many empty cartridges because you print off all the work you do as a writer. TNC, as part of Words in Winter are organising the inaugural Ellen Kemp Memorial Writers' Prize. Ellie Kemp was dedicated to her local community, this prize is being offered in her name, to recognise the work she did and the commitment she had to Trentham. If you are a budding writer, or even if not, and would like to be part of this competition, contact us for an entry form. We are open Mondays to Thursdays 9:30-4pm and most Friday mornings.

Trentham—helping stop a serial killer?

Lancefield and Bacchus Marsh have joined a growing number of towns committed to ending the spree of a serial-killer each of us knows well – the plastic shopping bag.

“But it’s only a plastic bag,” shoppers say. If only they knew the research cataloguing the millions of animals that have died after consuming plastic bags, mistaking them for food. They also trap birds, block drains and kill even large animals such as whales.

Australians are using fewer plastic shopping bags: bags given away at check-outs dropped from 6 to 4 billion between 2002 and 2007. These aren’t free – grocery chains pay substantial sums to provide them, adding to the cost of your bill. Each plastic bag is made from non-renewable fossil fuels – enough petrol to drive a car.

“Many people use plastic shopping bags to line their kitchen bins,” notes Peter Chudek, of the Calder Regional Waste Management Group. “This is a real problem . . . at the landfill: as the bags are light they become airborne and litter the site. We recommend that people wrap their food scraps in newspaper to place in the bin – paper absorbs odours and decomposes.”

What can we do about this serial killer?

- when buying 1-2 items, just carry them away
- use a string bag for more items: Trentham traders – including IGA – stock orange-coloured bags provided by Trentham Sustainability Group (TSG)

- bring a box or your own reusable bags for a big shop

We need everyone on side if Trentham is to become a plastic-bag free town. TSG will be contacting Trentham businesses over winter, asking them to agree to stop providing plastic shopping bags. We can all help businesses make the change by encouraging and supporting them to take action.

Trentham Station Market

The Station Market continues to evolve with more and varied Stallholders attending our unique site and commenting on how special the market feels in and around the Station precinct, and in particular with using some of the carriages as stalls which makes it very different to other sites. Advertising is also making a big difference the more we source different outlets for this.

The past weekend saw the Station used for a market on the Saturday as part of the Spudfest festivities in town. Whilst we would not normally put an extra market on a Saturday, we did so at the specific request of the Trentham Makers Market whose normal site outside the Cosmo Hotel was unavailable and they had difficulty securing another area, hence the request to utilize the Station, and we were happy that we could help them out on this occasion, after all that's what community spirit is all about.

The veranda covers have now been painted ready for the next phase of this task. We have been lucky enough to receive a community grant from the Shire which will be put to installing some permanent seating around the Station so that people have somewhere other than the platforms to sit.

Special mention must be made to Rodney Cohen, Bill Brown and Mary for their assistance in helping us with advertising drops and with jobs on market days. Your assistance is greatly appreciated by the small but dedicated group of committee members who work tirelessly for the Station thus ensuring the Station remains in community hands. We do ask however if there are any other people out there that can spare some time on Market days to help cook a sausage or two, just to give our workers a small break during the course of the market. And as always we do encourage other community groups to come down and promote your own activities.

Next few Market dates are June 24th, July 22nd & 29th & August 26th.

Happy Marketing

Cool Country Classics

This month we are getting ready to celebrate our first year anniversary and our first Annual General Meeting.

With what started out as a meeting of half a dozen in the pub CCC now has a membership of over thirty with new membership requests coming almost weekly. In just 12 months the growth of the club has been truly amazing and it shows no signs of easing. This has created a few problems with administration, but we believe that these will be resolved at our AGM.

The club has been accepted as a VicRoads club for the issuing of historic registration, and as a result we have already over a dozen members enjoying this facility, thus enabling them to use their classic car or bike on limited use registration at a much reduced cost.

The aim of the club as first envisaged, to enable people with similar likes in classic cars, bikes, trucks etc, to enjoy their pride and joys, has certainly been extremely well received and the acceptance of this ideal has been wonderful.

If you have an interest in or own, a classic vehicle you are more than welcome to attend our monthly meeting at the Trentham Hotel on the second Tuesday of each month at 7.30pm.

We would like to thank Tom and Pauline at the pub for their great support in providing the facilities of the hotel for our meetings and anyone attending the meeting is invited to join other members for a meal beforehand.

The club would also like to thank the Trentham Newsagency for their support in the production of our club badge which is now in stock and issued to each new member upon joining. Once again thanks to all who have contributed to the success of CCC in its first year and we look forward to our continued growth.

Is Your Business Really Customer Focussed?

Many businesses claim that they are customer focussed without there being much evidence to support the rhetoric.

Here is a definitive test to determine whether your business is, in fact, customer centred. Ask yourself these two questions:

1. What do people in your business tend to get really excited about?
2. What sort of events causes your people to become deeply upset and angry?

If the answer to the first question tends to have something about finding better ways to give customers what they want and if the answer to the second question tends to have something to do with “not doing the right thing” by the customer then your business is likely to be customer centred.

It's time to be a little bit honest here. If you own a business, make a point of listening to the way your employees talk about customers. If they are seen as no more than “a necessary evil” then you really do have a customer service problem ...

Holly Armstrong from Wheatsheaf was the big winner in the Trentham & Districts Community Bank® Branch competition run at Spudfest recently. Everyone tried their hand at guessing how much the giant spud weighed in $1 coins. Holly's guess of $115 was the closest, out of 109 entries. Weighing in at $112 worth of $1 coins, guesses ranged from $20 up to $220. Thanks to her lucky guess, Holly received a voucher to start her own bank account with Trentham & Districts Community Bank® Branch valued at $112.

The Branch would like to thank everyone who participated in the competition. Thanks also go to Bernie White who grew the giant spud and the Wooden Duck which kindly lent the Branch the beautiful old scales used to display the giant spud.

Trentham's Biggest Morning Tea

As most people know from the television, May is the month for one of the Cancer Council's largest fundraisers. For the second year running a Biggest Morning Tea was held in Trentham ... this year it was in the Neighbourhood House. We had double the attendance and raised double the amount of money (just under $450). We hope that all those who came had an enjoyable time and thank them for their support. A big thank you also to the people and local businesses who donated vouchers and gifts used as prizes on the day –

WeedFree Trentham

Holy holly

Holly is the first of our BIG FOUR environmental weeds to be discussed by WeedFree Trentham over four issues of the Trumpet.

Just about everyone will be familiar with holly. It's one of those iconic Northern Hemisphere trees and is affectionately associated with Christmas. In this "neck of the woods", its beautiful red berries, borne only on female plants, have been looking pretty over the last month. Birds, especially blackbirds, distribute the seed far and wide in bushland and in your garden.

Holly is considered a noxious weed in NSW, Victoria, Tasmania and South Australia. It naturalises and thrives in cool, higher rainfall areas. Little wonder it loves Trentham! In bushland its large dense stature shades out places where native plants would otherwise germinate and grown in gardens it compromises the integrity of a good garden design, germinating randomly.

If the ground is moist, small holly plants can be hand pulled quite easily. Getting a garden knife or trowel under the plants will help or, if larger, a spade. Bigger plants or small trees may require a method involving herbicide, remembering Roundup is most effective when plants are actively growing. The most efficient practice is "cut and swab". The plant is cut off as low to the ground as possible and neat Roundup (preferably Biactive) is applied immediately to the cut stem before the sap has a chance to dry. It is imperative to be familiar with and follow the instructions provided with Roundup which is recommended only where other methods are impracticable.

Speak to your favourite nurseryman, or give us a call if you'd like a recommendation for better planting options for your garden or methods of dealing with mature holly trees.

WeedFree Trentham gathers monthly, on the third Saturday afternoon (after the Farmer's Market), to counter the woody weed incursion into the area. Contact Brad on 126 or Jan on 100 if you're interested in joining in the monthly sessions. We can also assist you on your own verge if it is slightly overwhelming. Just give us a "Hoy".

Trentham Fitness

We talk about getting fit, feeling fit and improving our fitness but what does it really mean? We use the term 'fitness' broadly, however many components contribute to it. All of these components need to be considered when training to meet your sport, health or exercise goals.

The components of fitness are as follows:

Cardiovascular endurance – The cardio-respiratory system's ability to provide oxygen and nutrients to the muscles and eliminate toxins during prolonged exercise.

Muscular endurance – The muscle's ability to apply force over many repetitions or for a period of time eg running, cycling, swimming.

Flexibility – Range of motion of the joints eg yoga, stretching.

Strength – The muscle's ability to apply force over a single contraction eg holding/restraining object or person.

Body composition – The percentage of total body weight fat.

Agility – The ability for the body to quickly change direction with speed and accuracy eg running in zigzags or quick direction changes on the footy field.

Balance – Keeping balance whilst standing still or moving.

Coordination – The smooth performance of body parts and senses in performing motor tasks.

Power – The ability to use energy to transfer force with speed eg jumping or sprint start.

Reaction time – The amount of time taken between stimulus and starting the reaction to that stimulus.

Speed – The ability to execute movement in a short period of time eg sprinting.

If the focus of your training is only on some of these fitness components, you may be risking your overall effectiveness in your sport, exercise or physical activities. For a balanced approach to fitness try to incorporate all of the components into your exercise plan and by doing so you may find yourself performing better, feeling stronger and on top of your game!

Yours in health and wellbeing

Landcare

Our group organised a release of a biological control agent on Cape Broom. All indications are that the sap sucking insect has become well established and is spreading to nearby infestations.

In order to help it spread across the district we have applied for a grant so that insects can be collected from the "nursery plot" and distributed to other areas. Places where they are released will be photographed and mapped by GPS so that they can be monitored.

Reserves Report

Weed control work has continued at the Bath Street Reserve and at the Racecourse. Blackberry and gorse have been targeted and this work is expected to be completed prior to winter.

At Stoney Creek Reserve the walking trail has been extended to meet Camp Street. Repairs to the original path, including lifting the level and installing additional culverts, is to be carried out by Hepburn Shire using flood recovery funds.

A planting day is being planned with plants made available through the North Central Catchment Management Authority.

Trentham Sportsground Reserve

By now I hope that most of you have enjoyed the new entrance into the Reserve. This change was necessary because of the dangerous access to the Reserve from Falls Road. On game days the delays encountered entering and paying meant that on occasions we had several cars stopped on the main road and this was an accident waiting to happen. We now have a storage tank and can accommodate several cars that are entering the Reserve at the same time. Special thanks must go to Brian Adams for his diligence in cleaning up and forming of the road. A lot of this was completed in his own time and was invaluable to getting the new entrance open in time for the first home game.

We are still in the process of grant applications for an upgrade to the lighting of the oval. I do hope that the residents of Trentham appreciate what a great asset this is to the town. Not only would we be able to host night games of football and netball, it will be invaluable to the CFA in the case of a bush fire, the Reserve is the staging area for the CFA. It is also the pick-up point for the air ambulance and an emergency evacuation point for the local chemical plant in an emergency. I have also applied for funding to include 5 KW of solar power for the main building so that we can be a little bit more sustainable. This will have no affect on the oval lighting but it may well provide the kitchen and change rooms with free energy from the sun, this can only be a positive and sustainable inclusion for the Reserve.

Scouts celebrate World-wide "Jamboree on the Trail" in Trentham

Cubs, Scouts, Leaders and parents celebrated Jamboree On The Trail (JOTT) on Saturday 12 May by hiking along the Domino Trail in Trentham. After an interesting presentation by Michael Keaney on the part that the railway played in developing Trentham, the cubs and scouts hiked along the disused railway track bed from the old Trentham Railway Station towards Daylesford. They passed over a wooden trestle bridge and climbed a long embankment originally constructed with picks and shovels. After completing the 9km out-and-back hike, everyone enjoyed the sausage sizzle on their return to the station! Representatives from Bicycle Victoria were also present, describing their efforts to develop a Rail Trail from Woodend to Daylesford for all to enjoy in future. Jamboree on the Trail (JOTT) is an annual day for the World Scout Movement to hike together, and is held on the second Saturday of May each year.

Scouts is the world's largest youth organization for children from 6 years onwards. Cubs and Scouts offer many other outdoor activities - including camping, abseiling, rock climbing, canoeing, sailing, hiking, caving, scuba diving and more! For information about scouts, call Andrew Johnson on 0400 616393.

A Good Swashbuckling

Lots of chuckles were heard at the May meeting of the Macedon Ranges Film Society for the screening of "The Princess Bride". This cheery film contained all the elements of a well-told fairytale - fantasy, drama, suspense, humour, romance and a good dose of swashbuckling.

There is no swashbuckling per se in the film chosen for June but "Goodbye Lenin" promises, in quite a different way, to be just as interesting. This 1990 film, directed by Wolfgang Becker and starring Daniel Bruhl, Katrin Sass and Chulpan Khamatova, is the story of a young man who aims to protect his fragile mother from learning that her beloved nation East Germany, as she knew it, has disappeared.

This film will screen on Wednesday, 13th June at 7.15 pm sharp. The Macedon Ranges Film Society which only screens non-mainstream films, meets on the second Wednesday of each month in the Woodend Community Hub. For those who wish, there is discussion about the film after the screening and a chance for film buffs to meet each other and enjoy the refreshments provided by our members.
