THE GREAT TRENTHAM SPUDFEST

IT'S ALL HAPPENING THIS WEEKEND IN TRENTHAM

Spudfest is a celebration of our wonderful village, of the bounteous food bowl in which we live and of our proud agricultural history. It continues a tradition of boosting community pride and connection, which is clear from the diverse range of people involved in the festival in various ways – as stall holders, sponsors, spudbuddies and supporters.

This year, for the twelfth anniversary, the festival continues around the whole town with four precincts. Each one has a distinct feel – Foodie-Focus and Family Fun of SpudHub; History and Competitions on Town Square, including the inaugural SpudCar Show&Shine – (visit & vote for your favourite - you could win a prize); the Tractor-Pull, Classic Cars and Mixed Market at the Railway Station; the Classic Devonshire Tea Tent and Music & Makers on Market Street;. Catch up on all the fun either by jumping on the Horse & Cart around the village or by walking off your Spudly indulgences!

It's also a day to celebrate our community & support the organisations that support us. A number of groups are running fund-raising activities including the CFA, Trentham Primary School, Bullarto Primary School, Trentham Kindergarten and the Historical Society. Spudfest doesn't charge for community stalls, to help them raise as much money as possible.

We're very grateful to our "Gold Spud" sponsors – Hepburn Shire, Trentham & Districts Community Bank® and Harkin Property. We encourage you to buy from the local community stalls and from local businesses – it's all part of supporting our community.

Since its creation, Spudfest has been brought to life by volunteers. This year, we have expanded our fabulously passionate Working Party who have all put in huge efforts to make improvements in every area – as Big Spud, my personal thanks go to each of them.

We're still looking for extra Spudbuddies (aka Volunteers!). Please call Caroline Goode on 0438 389 331, if you have a couple of hours on Friday afternoon, or anytime Saturday to help make it all happen!

SPUD HUT BUS TOUR

This tour visits three of the huts that were provided to the "Spud Diggers" - seasonal workers who came to the district for the potato season, then moved on when the crops had all been lifted. Their farmer employers provided a hut for accommodation, with no running water or electricity. Occasionally, a digger would be allowed to remain in his hut between seasons and sometimes that became a semi-permanent arrangement.

One of these workers, Bob Stewart, lived in his hut on the Dwyer's farm until he was 97 years old. He never complained about the lack of "mod cons" and despite reading by candlelight of an evening, he needed no glasses until he was more than 100 years old.

Tours run for about an hour and depart from the Town Square at 11.00am, 12.30pm and 2.15pm. Tickets are $10 each; family of 4 for $30 – all proceeds support the Historical Society. You can also buy Historical Society books and the locally produced "Trentham Tatties" cookbook will be available for sale.

ENTERTAINMENT SCHEDULE:

- Main Stage at SpudHub kicks off with the Walsh Family Band at 10.15, followed by a rich assortment of "feel-good, toe-tapping" music, changing every hour and including local favourites Cat & Clint and the Greater Gliders.
- Kids Stage at SpudHub features choirs & bands from local schools, the fabulous TimTim's beautiful bubbles will float you through the morning and Phil Melgaard returns with his particular brand of fun & magic to bring a smile to your dial in the afternoon.
- Music and Makers on Market includes an Open Air Licensed Cafe, with a laid-back vibe, featuring Local Musos delivering a range of musical styles. While you're listening, grab a bite from Food Trucks or Cafes or have a scrummy Devonshire Tea, featuring locally-grown, locally-baked Potato Scones with traditional Strawberry Jam and Cream or home-made Sweet Potato Jam – yum! Then wander through the Artisan Market, with hand-made creations.
- The Kyneton Walking Band will be doing their strolling muso thing, leaving Quarry Park at 11am, Noon and 1pm - take a musical meander up Main Street.
- Tractor Pull at the Railway Station runs from 10.30 to 3.30. Cool Country Classic Cars will be showing all day.

You can find out more at our website (www.trenthamspudfest.org.au) or on our FaceBook page (@trenthamspudfest) where there are regular updates. We've already had some great media/PR exposure with more to come, so we're looking forward to welcoming even more visitors and guests to the Spudfest experience. Have you invited your family and friends yet?

EDITORIAL

We're heading into the last month of autumn and my goal of slowing down is coming to fruition.

After eight years of involvement with Trentham Trumpet, I find myself in a position to take a step back and hand over the reins, or perhaps the laptop is more appropriate!

I'd like to introduce two new members to the Trumpet team in Amanda Marx and Charl Parris.

Relatively new to the Trentham area, Amanda will be taking over the editorial side of the Trumpet.

Amanda was a member of the editorial team at Victoria University's creative arts journal "Offset" and in a previous life was publisher and editor of "Island Update" a sports and arts monthly based in Hobart.

Amanda is looking forward to growing The Trumpet as Trentham continues to grow its population and diversity of country life interests.

Charl will be assisting Dianne with the Trumpet's graphic design. She tells me her family relocated from Sydney 10 years ago and expected it to be a blow in and out kind of year. Moving from the city to the country, Charl was challenged by the change from warm to cold but found Trentham had a charm that went well beyond her expectations.

Charl has 3 wonderful children and loves being involved in community matters, from the school to enhancing this vibrant growing community. She has continued to work as a freelance graphic designer and is currently studying online in marketing and communications. Charl loves walking in the forest, meditation and yoga, hanging out with friends and loved ones.

I hope you'll join with me in welcoming Amanda and Charl to the team.

Cheers
Pauline

TRENTHAM SPUD DIGGERS

You can still see many of the old spud huts on the edges of farms, the remnants of a long history of potato growing in these parts. These are small huts of wood or tin or brick (the fancy ones) with a fireplace and not much else. The huts were used to house spud diggers, itinerant workers who came back year after year. The harvest began in April after the first frosts of autumn and went through the winter. A digger lifted 10 bags a day, 1,500 lbs in total. In the early 20th century the farmer made 10 shillings a bag and from that the digger got 2 shillings. Sam Gamble held the record for a single day's digging - 47 bags!

Some of the diggers were returned servicemen, most were just men down on their luck. Many kept warm through the bitter winters by patronising local pubs. There are countless stories of frostbite or even death when men fell asleep by the side of the road on the way home. Brian Wright was known as the Oxford Scholar. He was educated at Oxford and served in the Second World War, but took to the drink. Bob Stewart, born in Scotland, served in World War I and lived to 100 years in a small hut stacked full of books. Bruce McKenzie wrote of him:

“And although in things
material there is nothing much to show, Bob's attitude to life makes him the richest man I know.”

The huts are now mostly derelict but have been documented by Trentham Historical Society in “A Hard Day's Work” available for $7 from the Old Police Station in Camp Street.

THE Z-NET COMMUNITY TRANSITION PLAN

Trentham Sustainability Group (TSG) has been an active participant in the development of the Hepburn Shire Community Transition Plan. The Plan, launched in early April 2019, aims to make Hepburn a 'zero-net emissions community' within 10 years.

The project commenced in 2017 when local sustainability groups and community members put forward a submission to Hepburn Shire Council to implement an ambitious Zero-Net Energy Target for the shire. In 2018, with assistance from Sustainability Victoria's Take2 Community Transition Pilot, Hepburn Shire was selected to conduct Victoria's first Zero-Net Emission Transition (Z-NET) Pilot.

The pilot was designed to:

- provide a blueprint for how rural communities can satisfy their energy needs with renewables, and
- create a masterplan (Community Transition Plan) providing approaches to reach zero-net emissions in all sectors.

The Community Transition Plan is an invaluable resource for communities wishing to cut local emissions. The Plan documents the shire's current emissions profile (by sector and geographically) and provides comprehensive approaches to cut emissions in energy, transport, agriculture, land use and waste.

With its strong community foundation, this Plan is a grassroots response to the global challenge of climate change.

Developed with the local community and various research, industry and technical stakeholders, the blueprint is the most in-depth, place-based carbon emissions reduction strategy in Australia.

We hope you will get involved in this exciting project. For the generations who come after us we must do all we can to reduce the catastrophic impacts of climate change.

To find out more:

- read the Transition Plan and Snapshot Report (copies at the Library and Neighbourhood Centre),

HEAD TO WOODEND OVER THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY WEEKEND

If you're staying local for the Queen's Birthday long weekend (wise move) and looking for something to do or see, then make a note about popping by Woodend.

Now in it's 15th year, the volunteer run Woodend Winter Arts Festival brings some of the best classical music talent from overseas, combines it with the best of Australian vocal and musical talent, and mixes it with a range of author and political panels, writers' workshops and three free art exhibitions.

From Vivaldi to Rachmaninov and 'The Trout', Bach to Nick Cave and Nina Simone, George Megalogenis to Leigh Hobbs (and plenty of local writers and speakers), there is something for everyone.

You can learn a little tango – followed by a (non-participatory) concert or join poets at the Vic Hotel (you can sign up to perform or just go to appreciate and support those that do), or check out how the Oud can feature in not one but two concerts! And of course, there is the Woodend Library event for the kids (age 7–13 years free but bookings essential).

The Woodend Winter Arts Festival is held over the Queen's Birthday long weekend 7 - 10 June, with free Fireworks on opening night (7 June) at Buffalo Stadium in Woodend. Full details of the Festival program, and ticket purchases are available at www.woodendwinterartsfestival.org.au

“The true sign of intelligence is not knowledge but imagination”

Albert Einstein Desk Calendar 9 April 2019

Join us on Thursday 16 May at 6.30pm at Kyneton Town Hall when ADFAS Central Victoria will introduce visiting UK lecturer, Martin Heard when he presents his lecture ‘The Grand Tour - Collecting and Cultural Tourism’.

In the 18th century, a young British aristocrat's education was not complete without travel abroad to experience other cultures. This rite of passage became known as ‘The Grand Tour’.

To those whose education was based on learning the literature and history of Ancient Rome, Italy had the finest examples, in terms of ruins, of this most revered civilisation. The Grand Tourist was expected to improve his education and collect, with the skill of the connoisseur, suitable examples of art. These were brought back home demonstrating the aristocrat's evident sophistication and culture.

This lecture embarks on a typical tour through France and Italy, visiting Florence, Rome and Venice.

Martin studied History of Art at Manchester University and afterwards spent three years in the editorial department of a fine art publishing company. His later career took a detour into the world of information technology, during which time he had the opportunity to work and live for several years in both continental Europe and North America.

Kath Morrison at the Op Shop

COMMUNITY VOLUNTEER

Trentham's Kath Morrison said her first reaction to being honoured for nearly 65 years' service as a community volunteer was to feel embarrassed.

This was because she loves what she does and believes it gives her back more than she puts in.

The Hepburn Shire honoured her by adding her name to its Heather Mutimer Honour Roll of distinguished women of the region to mark International Women's Day last month.

The council created the honour roll in 2005 to recognise women who have made outstanding contributions to the community.

Kath's service as a Trentham volunteer started when she was 15, when she was asked to help out with the Girl Guides, where she later became a district leader.

She has since been involved delivering meals, volunteering with aged care, with Trentham's Historical Society and Neighbourhood Centre, as President of the St Mary Magdalen Guild and Op Shop, where she still works, and at the Tylden Cemetery Trust, where she is current president.

Her remarkable unbroken 65 years' service has been in addition to bringing up four children - and she today helps out as a volunteer at her grandsons' school in Flemington.

A highlight of her “day jobs” career was studying for a year when she turned 60 to obtain her Aged Care Certificate, followed by 12 years work in that field.

“I had always wanted to be a nurse and I did the Aged Care qualification after my children grew up and left home,” she said.

Kath urged others to help out in the community.

“I believe everyone who lives in a small community where they know everybody should pull their weight,” she told the Trumpet.

“Just do it, you always get more back than you put in”.

The shire's citation honouring Kath said she was “an unassuming person whose purpose in life has been to ensure that women achieve their potential and overcome personal difficulties”.

“She is an unsung hero”.

ADFAS*THE GRAND TOUR COLLECTING AND CULTURAL TOURISM

Submitted by Nicky Peters Chair,
ADFAS CV Publicity and Media 0400 958 449

Join us on Thursday 16 May at 6.30pm at Kyneton Town Hall when ADFAS Central Victoria will introduce visiting UK lecturer, Martin Heard when he presents his lecture 'The Grand Tour - Collecting and Cultural Tourism'.

In the 18th century, a young British aristocrat's education was not complete without travel abroad to experience other cultures. This rite of passage became known as 'The Grand Tour'.

To those whose education was based on learning the literature and history of Ancient Rome, Italy had the finest examples, in terms of ruins, of this most revered civilisation. The Grand Tourist was expected to improve his education and collect, with the skill of the connoisseur, suitable examples of art. These were brought back home demonstrating the aristocrat's evident sophistication and culture.

This lecture embarks on a typical tour through France and Italy, visiting Florence, Rome and Venice.

A Grand Tour Group of Five Gentlemen in Rome, by John Brown. Date: 1773. Collection: National Trust.

Martin studied History of Art at Manchester University and afterwards spent three years in the editorial department of a fine art publishing company. His later career took a detour into the world of information technology, during which time he had the opportunity to work and live for several years in both continental Europe and North America.

Entry is $30 cash or cheque payable on the evening and this includes refreshments (7.30pm-8.30pm).

For more information and registration of interest please call Nicky on 0400 958 449.

TRENTHAM EASTER ART & CRAFT SHOW

The 17th Trentham Art & Craft Easter Show started with a bang, with a packed opening night crowd and sales and judges praising the high standard of entries.

There were a record 355 entries by 152 exhibitors.

The 29 sales on the Thursday opening night set a trend for the rest of the show, with a flurry of red dots indicating the pieces sold.

Major prize winners of the $5700 prize pool were:

Glenlyon sculptor Lord Bloomfield, Best in Show Craft ($1000) and a new prize, the Matthew Harding Prize for Technical Excellence ($500) for his striking, armour-plated stag's head, "Dainn" (The Dead One).

Susan McBratney, Best in Show Art ($1000) for "Poppies", and Jennifer Barnett, Gweneth Wisewould Portrait Prize ($500) for "John Cooper".

Opening the show, local journalist/artist Peter Young praised the high standard of work exhibited, including in the junior art section.

"Trentham has a reputation for being one of Australia's regional art capitals. The standard of entries in the junior section of this show shows that maintaining that status into the future is in good hands," he said.

He also said artists were as important to a community's health as any other vocation, given arts' proven role improving cognitive development of youngsters, the health of the elderly and, most important, in nurturing the soul of a population.

He noted that prominent gallery proprietor and art dealer Stuart Purves, who operates a sculpture park at nearby Porcupine Ridge, often said: "You can't eat art but it sure as hell feeds you".

Young urged the public to buy Trentham art, which helps artists and the community, via the art show's heavy financial investment in the local region, but which also helps the new owner of original art by enriching their lives.

This year's show paid tribute to absent friends via its committee's purchase of a lovely portrait of the late David Bryant by Al Dickerson to present to David's wife Janine; and through the introduction of a new technical excellence award honouring the late artist, Matt Harding.

Art show committee members Jill McCallum and Bette McLaren were also honoured after achieving 11 years' service volunteering their time to local arts and crafts.

Young noted in opening the show that the annual exhibition would not be possible without an army of volunteers who help hang the show, dress the venue, manage sales and admissions, and serve drinks and food on the opening night.

Trentham passengers have enjoyed a more frequent coach service this past month with 24 additional weekly trips between Daylesford and Woodend.

The new timetable increases the total number of trips between the two towns from 26 to 50 per week – doubling services from four to eight each weekday and running four extra services over the weekend.

COOL COUNTRY MEN'S SHED

Men's Shed foundations laid!

Thursday April 11 was a great day in the story of Cool Country Men's Shed. Gavin from Apex Sheds, accompanied by Steve of Trentham Excavations, arrived to lay the building hurdles and begin building.

Over the next week the site had been leveled, the holes for the vertical girders dug, the formwork for the concrete slab set out, and the reinforcing mesh laid ready for the pour.

And the excitement did not end there. Thursday April 18 saw our two storage containers delivered and placed. Stan Falloon had made sure that the ramp up was wide and gentle enough to allow the 40 footers to be edged in safely.

PROPOSED BUDGET OPEN

Council adopted the Proposed Budget 2019/20 for public exhibition at its recent meeting in Trentham.

Mayor Cr Don Henderson said the 2019/20 proposed Budget responsibly funds the operations, services and capital investment to be delivered to the community.

"It delivers ... a number of important infrastructure projects, increased maintenance, and the continuation of essential services – all delivered in a financially sustainable model and with no new borrowings," Cr Henderson said.

The Capital Works program for 2019/20 will be $9.84 million. This is an investment of 55% of general rates, with projects to be delivered, including more than $5.5 million in road works.

"Council looks forward to working with the community to deliver a range of projects ... including Trentham Recreation Reserve, new and upgraded footpaths," Cr Henderson said.

"Rate increases have been capped at 2.5% in line with the Victorian Government's Fair Go Rates System." Waste charges have been held at an average 3.2%."

Council will now accept e-waste materials for free to encourage the recycling of e-waste items at transfer stations and has introduced significantly reduced first year animal registration fees to encourage the registration, de-sexing and microchipping of cats and dogs.

You can read the proposed budget online at www.hepburn.vic.gov.au or access a copy at the Trentham library.

HARKIN PROPERTY

Harkin Property Crew getting ready for Spudfest. L-R Nicoletta Astuto (Administration), Frances Harkin (Director), Wayne McGregor (Sales) and David Hannon (Rental Management).

The Harkin Property team are excited about Spudfest. Frances, Director of Harkin Property gathered the team for a Spudly photoshoot.

Frances, Director of Harkin Property is proud to support Spudfest by providing sponsorship for the signs around Trentham village.

“It is important for businesses of Trentham to support our annual Spudfest event, it draws crowds from all over Victoria, and also interstate.”

Harkin Property is located in the heart of Trentham and provides real estate services to surrounding towns. “Spudfest can actually be the drawcard for enticing people to move into the area, it’s a great way to showcase what we have to offer and how our community pulls together to make it happen”.

“It’s nice to see our new residence joining in and being welcomed into the community. Spudfest offers that in so many ways. We see people move to town and join community groups or volunteer their time in some way. It’s a great way to meet other people and support the community”.

Frances can often be seen riding her red Harkin bike to properties so if you see her out and about, give her a wave and say hello.
